

WE NOMINATE

Dana Gardner Munro, one of the perceptive Latin-American specialists of his time and in the late fall of 1959 rounding out his 30th year as a Princetonian, who at age 67 has been singled out for membership on the newly created National Advisory Committee on Inter-American Affairs. In announcing the appointment of the six-member group over the past weekend, President Eisenhower stressed that the committee—serving as an advisory body to Secretary Christian Herter—would provide "tangible evidence of the importance which the United States attaches to its relations with the other American Republics."

The White House, acting on the recommendation of Milton S. Eisenhower, the President's brother, is seeking to promote the unity of the Americas and yet insists that the establishment of the top-level committee is related in no way to any recent developments in Latin-America, including the recently documented wave of anti-United States feeling throughout Central and South America. On the other hand, "unofficial Washington" feels that it is high time for a non-partisan group to ponder all of the implications of current and long-haul problems in the United States' relations, and dealings, with the sovereign states to the South.

To his new assignment Munro, the son of a distinguished analyst of the Middle Ages, brings well over four decades of practical and academic experience, starting with the pre-World War I years he spent in Central America qualifying for his University of Pennsylvania doctorate. Called to Princeton in 1930 as Professor of Latin-American History, and subsequently holding forth as Director of the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs from 1939 until 1958, he interrupted his university career for a period of two years to hold forth as United States Minister to Haiti.

The Rhode Island-born Munro, now William Stewart Tod Professor of Public Affairs at Princeton, completed his undergraduate training at Brown and the University of Wisconsin, qualifying for the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from the former in 1940. After pilot training and World War I service with the U. S. Air Force, he was in succession a regional economist for the Caribbean Region, consular economist in Chile, assistant chief of the Division of Latin-American Affairs, secretary of the legations in Panama and Nicaragua and finally Chief of the State Department's Latin-American Division.

Indicative of his success in handling whatever came his way is the steady flow of visitors to Princeton who are interested in discussing Latin-American affairs as well as such noteworthy Munro publications as "The Five Republics of Central America" and "Refugee Settlement in the Dominican Republic." A panel member of the World War II Labor Board and at the same time an expert consultant to the War Department, he has also been vice-president and president of the New York-headquartered Foreign Bondholders' Protective Council.

For devoting his life to the development of useful ideas with respect to this nation's Latin-American relations; for outstanding achievement as an educator and career public servant; for his enthusiastic acceptance of new challenges; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

NEW TAXES PROPOSED

Sales—or Income—for Schools. Princetonians learned this week that a renewed drive will be made in the immediate future to have New Jersey levy either a sales or an income tax on its residents. The proposal: the state's school support program for public education requires an additional $90,000,000 annually, and only a "broad base tax," — one which would affect every resident—is equitable. New Jersey's property taxes, it is pointed out, are among the highest in the nation and should assume no new increase.

Behind the campaign is the New Jersey Education Association, which has announced that it will work actively in the weeks ahead for passage by the Legislature of one form of new tax or the other. Plans are to circulate widely a new filmstrip titled, "Let George Help Do It."

The filmstrip advances the belief that revenue from one of these two sources is the only way to raise sufficient funds to meet constantly rising school costs. It tells the story of "George," a composite of all New Jersey residents who do not own a house, drive a car, drink, smoke or bet on horses.

"George," accordingly, is something of a free-loader in that he pays no taxes to the State. The filmstrip obviously does not urge that if his moral standards are unusually high, he should change them by taking up smoking, drinking going to the race tracks; the target, rather, is the existing tax structure in New Jersey which turns only to these five sources of revenue and leaves thousands of pocketbooks untouched.

To Flush Water Lines

The Princeton Water Company announced this week that it will start its periodic check of all fire hydrants and water lines beginning Monday night.

Scheduled to last about a week, the project will involve flushing the hydrants and lines, with a resultant discoloration of water in some areas. The company suggests that clear water be used when clothes are washed but emphasizes the fact that the discoloration in no way affects the quality or health standards of the water for drinking purposes.

Proposal Is Not New. For more than a decade, education and farm groups, each with different motives, have been promoting the idea of the "broad base tax," one which would affect all residents in the state and distribute more equitably the state's financial burdens.

Farm groups, including the New Jersey Farm Bureau, want a non-property tax to relieve land-laden farmers. The New Jersey State League of Municipalities and the Association of Township Committeemen favor a non-property tax to lift some of the burden off their constituents. The state's education associations support the idea as the best way to raise money for schools.

Governor Meyner recalled this week that in his 1953 and 1957 campaigns he had spoken against an income tax. He hopes that he will not have to ask the Legislature for any new taxes at all next year.

The N.J.E.A. would like to bring the present state school aid figure up from $87.3 million to $175.3 million in order to take care of added per pupil costs and the influx of more students into the state's schools.

If the N.J.E.A.'s plan is adopted by the Legislature, it will mean a substantial increase in state school aid for both Princeton Borough and Township. According to the latest available figures, the Borough received as its yearly allotment $62,985 in state aid, and the Township $110,671. If the N.J.E.A.'s plan is adopted, it will mean $102,561 for the Borough and $162,407 for the Township.

The figures are based at the moment on a $50-per-pupil contribution which would be raised to $75 if the plan goes into effect. Most of the aid would be for building ($1,520 to $10,600 for the Borough and $5,403 to $16,3898 for the Township).

Most sales tax proposals have suggested a 3 percent levy, probably with food exempted from the tax. At present, 34 states have sales taxes and 34 have a personal income tax. All the new taxes adopted since the war have been sales levies.

Asserting his belief that the current procedure may no longer meet the needs of a greatly-expanded community, Mr. Tibbals suggests "an immediate airing of the whole matter," including public debate on the proposal.

Wenh Harrison, Jr., 9 Battle Road, who last Saturday scored the first touchdown for Andover in a 16-to-8 triumph over its traditional rival at Exeter, N. H. A letter-winner in three sports, the 18-year old senior paced the unbeaten (7 for 7) Andover eleven in scoring this season with a personal total of 34 points.

ROUND-UP

Dr. Roscoe P. Kandle, State Commissioner, and Philip Alampi, State Secretary of Agriculture, this week gave the green light to the traditional red on Thanksgiving tables—cranberries grown in this State, Masschusetts and Wisconsin . . . evidence points to the fact that they are safe and free of amino triazole, the chemical weed killer that reportedly has made it advisable to avoid berries grown on the West Coast.

A shoplifter, Township police report, got away with a dress and jacket ensemble of dress and coat from Rosette Pennington last week valued at $160 . . . crime of a more serious nature has hit other Mercer County municipalities, with several liquor store holdups reported in Trenton and a Hightstown gas station attendant kidnapped by two bandits who relieved him of $190 while forcing him to accompany them from Hightstown to Freehold, where he was turned loose.

Princeton Township will soon complete the installation and painting of a score of red-and-white poles, to serve as gathering points for firemen when a general alarm sounds . . . bells pinpoint fires in the Borough but there is no alarm system for the Township . . . the new system will establish a number that will ring for each pole, thus cutting down traveling time for most fire fighters.

Saturday's Yale game created the anticipated traffic jams at U. S. 1 and Washington Road, where the circle is still under construction . . . some motorists reported it took 45 minutes to cover the mile and a half from the circle to a parking lot . . . State Police at the Princeton Barracks, commanded by Sgt. John A. Smith, has 22 men assigned to traffic duty, five more than normal for a big Palmer Stadium crowd.

Princeton's two banks have mailed out a combined $408,000 in Christmas Club checks, the First National sending $255,000 to some 2000 members and Princeton Bank and Trust $153,000 to 1300 members . . . the 1960 clubs at both institutions will open Monday.

Final figures show that only one county (Hudson) voted against the college bond issue which passed by better than 185,000 votes . . . Mercer's plurality was among the smallest in the State, better than 71,000 expressing an opinion on the referendum which won by only 5500 votes.

1960 political note: State Republicans will have a primary fight on their hands, Robert Morris, a Point Pleasant resident and New York attorney announcing this week that he will oppose U. S. Senator Clifford Case . . . Mr. Morris placed third in the GOP primary last year, trailing Robert W. Kearn and Bernard M. Shanley in the race to run against Democrat Harrison A. Williams, Jr., the eventual winner in November.

Have you seen "a big white floppy rabbit with black ears and pink eyes" perusing you from nearby shrubbery? A classified ad this week reports he's been missing from 132 Patton Avenue since Saturday night.

MANY ACCIDENTS OCCUR

One Killed, Several Injured. The worst accident weekend in 1959 was recorded last week in the Princeton area, with one fatality (the second this year) and several injuries, some of major proportions. (See below for story on fatal accident.)

Throughout the state last weekend, single-vehicle accidents accounted for over half of the 16 fatalities reported. Mercer County's fatality total for this year so far is 27, compared with 18 a year ago. Middlesex, in which one of the Princeton area's accidents occurred over the weekend, has the highest fatality total of any county: 59.

Robert L. Johnson, 22, Bedens Brook Road, Skillman, ran off the right-turn signal of J. P. Sembiante, 43, 121 Magnolia Lane. Unable to, she hit Mr. Sembiante and pushed his car across Parkside. Julius W. Tompa of Trenton, riding with Miss Armonia, was also slightly injured.

Saturday at 8 a.m., Russell Z. Law, 31, of Trenton, traveling south on The Great Road along a sharp curve, veered into the northbound lane and struck a car driven by Leo P. McGillen, 52, of Drakes Corner Road.

John Aranyi, 26, 44 Wiggins, traveling north on Route 206 in a Friday - the - thirteenth accident, drove around the bend from Bayard Lane and crossed into the opposite lane in an effort to avoid a car parked in his lane. He struck a car driven by Henry E. Marken, Sr., 66, of Trenton.

The Kingston bridge claimed another fender when W. N. Chadha, 32, of New Brunswick, braked as he approached the bridge on Saturday at 9 p.m., and skidded into it.

Gladys Jackson, 28, of Trenton, struck the car belonging to John B. Mathews, 28, 12 Dorann Avenue, in making a left turn into Wiggins Street. Continuing to turn

"Help Just One Child"

With this plea, members of Princeton's Junior Chamber of Commerce have issued an appeal to the Princeton community to help them make a merry Christmas for the children of the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute at Skillman.

Children at the Institute have written letters to Santa Claus and have entrusted them to the Princeton Jaycees. Individuals or groups who would like to help the Jaycee's Christmas project by filling the requests may call WA 4-5700 for additional information.

Blawenburg-Hopewell Road Saturday afternoon and wrapped his 1955 Mercury around a tree, completely demolishing the car and sustaining injuries to his chest and abdomen. He was given a summons by State Police.

In a two-car accident Saturday at 6:25 p.m., Mrs. Helen Nevius, 68, of Lincoln Highway, Franklin Park, emerged from Franklin Park Road into Route One and into the car driven by Frank Malanowski, 30, 582 Main St., Sayreville, who was driving south on the highway.

Three passengers in the Nevius car were injured and taken to Princeton Hospital, Augustus Vliet, 71, Evelyn Avenue, Franklin Park, has fractured ribs, a lacerated forehead and possible internal injuries. Also injured, less seriously, were Mrs. Ella Vliet, 64, of the Evelyn Avenue address, and Miss Wilma Shafer, 17, of Chester, N.J.

A Yale student crashed into the Stony Brook bridge on Mercer Road Saturday at 11:45 p. m. Richard K. McGuire, III, 20, of Mt. Vernon, N.Y., lost eight teeth and sustained a fractured jaw, a possible nose fracture and deep lacerations of chin, lips and tongue. He knocked several stones out of the bridge's coping. Township police gave Mr. McGuire a summons for careless driving.

In several minor accidents, drivers ran into trouble for various reasons and with results of varying seriousness. Three persons were injured slightly Saturday morning at 8:51 a.m. at the Mercer-Parkside intersection.

Miss Ann D. Armonia, 19, 271 Witherspoon, driving west on Mercer, tried to stop when she saw left. Mrs. Jackson also hit a parked car belonging to Kathryn White, 46, 80 Snowden Lane. All three cars were damaged and Mrs. Jackson was charged with making an improper turn.

MAN DIES IN ACCIDENT

Cooper's Car Hit Tree. Saturday morning at 3 o'clock, a car driven by James H. Cooper of 168 Washington Road, Peans Neck, struck a tree on Washington Road and turned over. Mr. Cooper was admitted to Princeton Hospital with severe head injuries and died about 18 hours later.

President of the Princeton Junction Fire Company and the Mercer County Fire Chiefs Association, he had been in business as a tree surgeon here for 20 years. He was 52 years old. He was a member of the New Jersey Fire Police Association, the New Jersey Federation of Shade Tree Commissioners, the Princeton Shrine Club, the Squatters Club of Princeton, the Fraternal Order of Eagles and Crescent Temple and Scottish Rite of Trenton.

His survivors include his wife, Mrs. Gladys Wambaugh Cooper, two sons, Barry E. Cooper of Princeton and James L. Cooper of Madison, Wis.; two daughters, the Misses Doris L. and Lois I. of Princeton; his father, Levi Cooper of Schwenksville, Penna.; two sisters, Mrs. George Szalansky of Conshohocken, Penna. and Mrs. George Kulp of Philadelphia, and four brothers, George Cooper and Ralph Cooper, both of Philadelphia, Paul A. Cooper of Rhans, Penna., and William Cooper of Long Island.

The Rev. David L. Crawford, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, officiated at the service, held at the Kimble Funeral Home. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery.

FUND GOES UP

$135,000 Closer to Goal. Princeton's United Community Fund has moved $135,000 closer to its $212,000 goal, according to this week's announcement from Fund headquarters. The new increase was helped along by $21,500 from 11 of the area's 27 research firms.

The Astro-Electronics Products Division of RCA, near Hightstown, has contributed $4140 to the United Fund through an employees' organization called the AEP Combined Charities Plan. Through this plan, 75 percent of the employees pledged payroll deductions averaging $23.50 per employee. This sets a new record for employees' averages in the Princeton area, according to Fund statistics.

AEP expects that there will be more contributors before the campaign is over and the campaign organization hopes that 85 percent of the employees will contribute. William Gibson is chairman of the committee and Warren Wagner, manager of personnel for AEP, is adviser. Ralph Antell directed the solicitation.

In the Building Trades Division of the Fund, Harry Volweider reports that Lewis C. Bowers and Sons has contributed $1,065, an increase of 28 percent; Matthews Construction, $250 for an increase of 25 percent; Grover Lumber $150, an increase of 50 percent; The Building Center, $50, a 40 percent increase; S. T. Peterson, $250, an increase of 25 percent; R. F. Johnson, $75, an increase of 35 percent; Designed for Living, joining the campaign for the first time, $217.

No joke about the possibility of snow, at least as far as the temperature is concerned. Wednesday's big dip took the thermometer from a high in the 50's to a low of 20.

After four straight Saturdays on which it had rained—more often than not, contrary to all predictions—the Weather Man thought this weekend would be free of precipitation. Colder than usual Thursday and Friday, with a gradually warming trend to follow.

News Of The THEATRES

GIELGUD HERE THURSDAY

Between Broadway Shows. Sir John Gielgud, who will present "Shakespeare's Ages of Man" this Thursday evening at McCarter Theatre, is appearing in Princeton in between two Broadway productions. He has just completed the successful presentation of "Much Ado About Nothing" and is currently directing the "Five Finger Exercise," which will be presented on Broadway next month.

The "Ages of Man," which includes selections from Shakespeare, is the only solo performance which Sir John has made before an American audience. It enjoyed a triumphant tour of the United States 1st year, as well as a successful run in New York. Tickets for the performance, which is being sponsored by the University Players, are available at the Princeton University Store and the McCarter Theatre box office.

LEHRER CONCERT SET

For This Saturday. Tom Lehrer, composer and singer of humorous songs, will appear this Saturday evening at 8:30 in McCarter Theatre. A few tickets for the performance are still available at the University Store and standing room tickets will be sold at the box office of McCarter Theatre the night of the show.

Mr. Lehrer is particularly known for an LP record of his songs which he first cut in March, 1953. At that time, he only made 400 copies, thinking this would be more than enough. As of this date, more than a quarter of a million of the records have been sold and it is carried by stores in all 50 states as well as in foreign countries. In addition, songs from the record have been published in book form, with an introduction by Al Capp.

A graduate of Harvard College, Mr. Lehrer began writing his humorous songs while an undergraduate, strictly for his own amusement and that of his friends. He and his friends soon found themselves entertaining at various local functions and when the group disbanded, Mr. Lehrer was invited to sing a solo act, on a professional basis. The record, which came shortly afterwards, established his reputation.

BRAND IS BACK

Folksinger To Appear Friday. Oscar Brand, renowned folksinger, will make his third Princeton appearance this Friday evening at 8 in Alexander Hall. This will be the only college stop on his current national tour.

Mr. Brand, who is nationally-known for his record, "Bawdy Songs and Backroom Ballads," will present both bawdy songs and folk songs in his appearance here. Tickets at the door.

BECKER IS DIRECTOR

Of Playmill Presentation. John Becker of Princeton, well-known to Princeton audiences for his direction of "Under Milkwood" last season, will be director of the Playmill's next presentation, Sean O'Casey's "I Knock at the Door." The show will be stage at the Playmill for six nights, November 27 and 28, December 4 and 5, and December 11 and 12.

AGE TO AGE: Sir John Gielgud will present a selection from Shakespeare's works in his "Ages of Man" this Thursday evening in McCarter Theatre.

In addition to "Under Milkwood," Mr. Becker has directed several other Community Players' productions, including "Ah, Wilderness," "Hasten the Day," which he co-authored, and "Amphitryon 38." A free-lance television producer in New York, Mr. Becker also does television publicity for the American Cancer Society and has staged elaborate pageants on the West Coast.

"I Knock at the Door," which was produced at the Belasco Theatre in New York in 1957, is considered one of O'Casey's most interesting and sensitive works. Tickets may be obtained at the University Store.

COMEDY TO BE GIVEN

By Miss Fine's Club. "You Can't Take It With You," the comedy by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart, has been chosen by the Dramatic Club of Miss Fine's School for the club's winter production. It will be given December 4 and 5 in the school auditorium and tickets will be available at the door.

Sisse Brumi, Nancy Davis, Catherine Otis, Katherine Adams, Cynthia Weinrich and Susan Valentine will take the leading roles with Eileen Baker, Ellen Levy, Barbara Scheide, Sonia Bill and Jane Ross serving as understudies. Male roles will be assumed by undergraduates at the University. Munro Wade will direct.

INTIME PLAY REVIEWED

A Satisfying Evening. The award of the Drama Critics for the best play of American authorship went to Arthur Miller's "All My Sons" in 1947, a year that included well-seasoned dramatists such as Lillian Hellman and Maxwell Anderson. This might be reason enough for Theatre Intime to revive the 12-year-old drama.

It is altogether an American document in a time when critics are belaboring the American writer for shunning his native heath other than as background for a population of neurotics who might exist anywhere. (This season, the Drama Critics rewarded "A Raisin in the Sun," which shows how they feel about it).

However, even with such recommendations, a play of the immediate post-war era dealing with the manufacture of defective parts for planes that have been obsolete these many years might be questionable fare. It isn't.

Years Of The Theatres

This play has vigor that changing headlines will only intensify, and moral values that need reiterating. It even survives a melodramatic ending. It should have a satisfying run at Murray Theatre nightly through Saturday.

"All My Sons" tells of two "average" American families involved in a tragic tangle who helplessly watch a moment's panic and misjudgement grow into a monster that destroys them. The protagonist of the piece, the manufacturer of airplane parts, has lived in the sunshine of American prosperity, brighter than ever for him in war-time.

When the shadow falls, his ingrained reaction is not toward the moral issues, but to staying in the sunshine. It is the simple formula on which complicated tragedy is based: who knows himself until he is tried?

Snow Excels. William Snow plays the father, Joe Keller, as though he'd known him all his life. This is a believable man whose good American enthusiasm, incredulity and bluster can be seen any summer on any guided tour to Europe. Deceit, lies, crime are not in his lexicon. Mr. Snow builds this man and tears him down almost without benefit of the playwright.

It's not wrong to say he carries the play. Nor is that to say he does not have excellent help, particularly from Wilma Harris who almost sustains the difficult role of the unstable mother of childish character who lives in a world of her own making.

Not until we meet the son, Chris, do we, the director, and possible Paul Bock, who plays the part, dive in somewhat over our heads. Returned from the wars, surviving son of a father exonerated of selling parts that crashed planes.

Christ is an idealist, today's angry young man. When he is angry, Mr Block is good, but he ought to stay with his man even when he's not.

Betty Fussell shines like a light turned on in the unusually gloomy stage. As the daughter of the man who "took the rap" for the boss of the factory, she is righteous, not self-righteous; she is charming, and as an actress needs reassurance that she is.

Geoffrey Smith, playing another angry son, this one of the man who languishes in jail, has a vignette to draw. The only real threat to the deceitful peace that exists, he has been brooding on it through the years his father has been in jail. A loud voice isn't the only way to convince.

DIRECTS PLAYERS: John F. Becker of State Road will direct the Community Players in their next presentation, Sean O'Casey's "I Knock at the Door," which will be open at the Playmill Friday, November 27.

Of the shorter parts, Mildred Wasserman proves herself an old hand at the business of acting; Ruth Stern, Louis Versace and Robin Room show the refreshing enthusiasm of beginners. John Odden, a veteran of school productions, is just beginning in point of years and has a long and interesting way ahead.

The scene the writer describes as "The backyard of the Keller home in the outskirts of an American town." Maybe that's where Mr. Miller spends his August Sundays in a mosquitoey backyard with the Sunday papers blowing all over the place, but it's pretty obvious that the Keller family, with the aid of the set designer, better "Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up."

A young lady in the opening night audience was heard to say, "If they made so much money in that factory, couldn't they have better clothes." Couldn't they?

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Best of Everything (November 18-21) is a big CinemaScope and color adaptation of the best-seller by Rona Jaffe. The stars include Hope Lange, Stephen Boyd, Suzy Parker, Martha Hyer, Diane Baker, Brian Aherne, Louis Jourdan and Joan Crawford.

The plot quickly acquaints us with the fact that New York is a jungle and girls who go there to work as secretaries had better watch out or they'll have affairs. Then, for 121 minutes, it shows us a cross - section of girls who have gone there to work as secretaries and haven't watched out. We see old girls, middle - aged girls and young girls, single girls, married girls and divorced girls —all having affairs. It is a convincing demonstration.

A few of the principals, notably Miss Lange, give their roles a depth of interpretation which is worthy of a much better picture. Jean Negulesco's direction is understanding and well-paced. The producer was Jerry Wald.

Label (November 22-24) is a strangely uneven British film which reaches heights of some

IT'S NEW To Us

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

Shoppers' Guide: '59 Edition. It has become an annual affair, like going to your class reunion, buying a fishing license or getting rabies shots for the dog. We refer to the Christmas Shopping Guide which TOWN TOPICS presents each year in five weekly installments to lighten the shopper's burdens and to weigh down her shopping bag.

This week, we consider the big presents that you have to plan for several weeks before Christmas. In subsequent issues, we'll tell you about toys, personal gifts for everybody in the family, household presents and food and drink for your holiday table.

The Third Dimension. Stereo, which some people bought rather tentatively last year, is on much firmer ground in 1959. The units have been combined into one console, the consoles themselves have been designed by top furniture houses and stereo has become, in short, a respectable member of the family and not just a "nouveau arrive."

Fisher, at the University Store, has a Provincial fruitwood cabinet 48 inches wide with AM-FM radio, stereo components and speakers and an air of country elegance: $645. A slightly smaller console is $489. This store also carries RCA and Zenith stereo from $329 and portables with stereo from $69, including Dean Electronics' 2-speaker double amplifier model.

The newest stereo line in town is the famous Andrea which is now available at Nassau Service on State Road. Mr. A. puts his components into handsome cabinets: "self-contained units," he calls them, with oblique speakers, 40-watt amplifiers and diamond sapphire dual styli—(all right, styluses.") Cabinets are hardwood, in Provincial or several modern designs.

In Blawenburg, the Van Zandt establishment has Philco stereo, enclosed in an imposing cabinet which lists at $795. Van Zandt's price is $550 for the AM-FM tuner, stereo speakers and tura table. Separate speakers at Van Zandt may be had for $18.95 each in a mahogany box case with legs.

Three-channel stereo by Motorola (five speakers) is on the floor of the University Appliances Shopping Center store. Comes in cherry or mahogany cabinet, in modern or Provincial styling.

On Palmer Square, the Music Center likes the modestly priced Lesa, an Italian-made record changer pre-wired for mono or stereo. Four speed, priced at $39.95.

In this shop, you may buy empty cabinets to house the stereo components you have assembled yourself. The largest group is composed of three 20-inch-wide units in walnut or mahogany finish. The speaker cabients, on each side of the center, are $49 each, the center unit with drawer for turntable and space for tuner and amplifier, is $55.

De Wald's 15-watt amplifier at $52.95 is new in this shop. There are also kits, for the solder-on-the-rug crowd, starting at $34.95 for amplifiers by Eico. The Eico tuner kit is $29.95.

Wide Choice in Color TV. The RCA color television set at the U. Store is an awesome piece of furniture which would certainly brighten Christmas and the months to come. (Grandmother, I guess my tastes differ from yours: I am not looking forward to seeing Casey Stengel in color.)

The U. Store gives you about 15 models in color TV to choose from, with prices to choose, too: $600 to $1500, with your trade-in.

In black and white, U. Store likes Zenith's remote control set that works even if you're 40 feet away, although what you're doing 'way back there' we have no idea. RCA tunes remotely, too. The shop suggests that you invest this year in a portable TV set so that you won't have to watch Rin-Tin-Tin. Portables are priced from $179 to $259.

Reductions at Van Zandt. Van

From the Past

On Palmer Square, the Christmas shopper will find this year two magnificent reminders of the fine cabinetwork that was done by the ancestors of today's furniture craftsmen.

Both pieces are desks in the Governor Winthrop style, built with sturdy grace to find a corner in a man's study or a woman's living room.

One, at The Silver Shop, was made about 1825 and was for many years at Shadow Lawn, the summer White House of Woodrow Wilson's administration. It's burled walnut veneer, very dark and handsome with minute featherwork around drawers and lid and fine beveling around the bottom. It looks like a man's desk. Price: $500.

The other desk is earlier, though identical in style with the three long drawers that make the bottom look like a chest, the drop leaf concealing pigeon-holes and small drawers, the strong broad top. It was made in 1780 in New England out of pine which had been treated to a coat of red paint. This has been removed, but it has left an indelible ruddy glow which gives the wood warmth not often found in pine. The desk still has its original brasses. Price: $780.

News Of The Theatres

proportion in the remarkable performance of Dirk Bogarde, who plays three very different roles with the aplomb and feeling of an Alec Guinness. His co-stars include Olivia de Havilland, Paul Massie, Robert Morley and Wilfrid Hyde-White. On the debit side is a wildly improbable script and a job of direction which relies heavily on the heavy device of using theatre marquees and newsboys to advance the narrative.

At the insistence of his wife, Miss de Havilland, Sir Mark Loddon (Bogarde) sues for libel when a scandal magazine intimates that he is not what he claims to be. Accordingly, a court trail is called to determine whether Sir Mark really is Sir Mark, or whether he's an imposter posing as Sir Mark, and who owns Loddon Hall anyway. After all kinds of soul-searching (Sir Mark, it develops, suffers from a touch of amnesia) and surprise witnesses, we learn that all the confusion started in a war-time prison when Sir Mark (Bogarde) happened to be the cell-mate of an aspiring provincial actor (Bogarde). And so it goes.

Beloved Infidel (November 25-December 1), in CinemaScope and color, is a dramatization of the relationship between author F. Scott Fitzgerald and Sheilah Graham, starring Gregory Peck, Deborah Kerr and Eddie Albert. The film, just completed, was released too late for review in this issue, but will be discussed in detail next week.

THE GARDEN

The Tailor's Maid (November 17-21) is a pleasant, warm-hearted comedy from Italy, which is aided by the presence of Vittorio DeSica in the starring role. Others in the case include Riccardo Garrone, Lorelle DeLuce, Ruggero Marchi and Marcello Mastroianni.

DeSica is a master tailor whose son (Garrone) minds the store while Dad goes out with girls. DeSica's teenage daughter (Miss DeLuca) falls in love with a schoolmate, who is the son of an old - fashioned doctor (Marchi). The doctor, who opposes the match, already has his hands full with his older son, who seems bent on violating several laws.

These and a couple of other domestic dilemmas are straightened out happily through the kindly intervention of DeSica. The picture is in Italian with English titles and was filmed in CinemaScope.

Mildred Pierce (November 23) is this week's entry in the Garden's series of one-day-only reruns of outstanding films from the past. Filmed in 1945, the picture stars Joan Crawford, Jack Carson, Eve Arden, Zachery Scott and Ann Blyth. Miss Crawford won the "best actress" Academy Award for her role in "Mildred Pierce."

Anatomy of Love (November 24-28) is an excellent film, a sort of filmic collection of short stories on various manifestations of that highest of all human emotions. The stars are Vittorio DeSica, making his second appearance at the Garden within a week, Sophia Loren, the comic Toto, Lea Padovani, Michael Simon and Maria Fiore. The film's episodes are uniformly well - done, with moods ranging comedy to polgnancy. "Anatomy of Love" is in Italian with English titles. Recommended.

Buy Me One, Daddy

LaVake-Reid has a memorable Christmas gift for you this year and even if you feel you'd better wait until next year to ask for it, do stop at the Nassau Street store for a look.

It's a gold and diamond brooch, finely wrought from 18 karat gold which has been worked into an acanthus leaf design. Nested in the gold are diamonds set in platinum. The brooch is a convertible one and can be broken down into two clips if you'd rather wear it that way for double effect. The exact price is not publishable at the moment, but you can count on its being under $2500.

It's New To Us

Zandt likes the Philco Predicta at $199 and $229. It's detachable from its base, if you want it that way. Philco makes three remote control consoles whose picture and sound can be turned down, off, or somewhere else, all by remote control. A cane and walnut console would grace a modern room—$295, from a list price of $409.

A clock Predicta stands cooly on a base of thin brass legs and a base of black. This is the one that will wake you up in the morning.

These fabulous Andrea sets, custom-crafted and hand wired, without a single printed circuit, are available now at Nassau Service, on State Road. Nassau has the exclusive Andrea franchise here, and you will not find the sets anywhere else.

The company—the oldest in TV, as you know—makes a 23-inch tube which is fused to the safety glass. Prices range from $250 to $470 for a variety of models including table TV. There's a fruitwood cabient, an antique white one, and a dazzler called Danish Flame Mahogany.

Nassau Service also has Philco and Admiral, including portables. That beach portable you've needed all year, is here on State Road. It looks like a container for vacuum bottle instead of vacuum tube, and it has a little screen you view, periscope-style, by peering under a visor which keeps out the glare of the beach. Although why you'd want to watch television when you can go swimming in the ocean is a question you alone can answer. Price is $249.95, for this cow-hide-covered set. Got a teen-ager?

University Appliances in the Shopping Center, carries Motorola's 21-inch TV enconced in a cherry cabinet made by the Drexel Furniture Company, no less. Motorola has Custom-matic tun-

takes pride in announcing that it plans on opening a School of Practical Nursing
ON JANUARY 4, 1960
Applications are now being accepted for the first class

One of today's greatest career opportunities for women is that of the licensed practical nurse. Carefully trained in the vital elements of nursing care, the trained practical nurse has unparalleled opportunities for job placement and job satisfaction. During 1959 an enticipated 22,000 students will graduate from schools of practical nursing, and yet, according to national authorities, 60,000 could be placed immediately if they were available.

Princeton Hospital will offer a 52-week course, with one-third of the time devoted to a preclinical period and two-thirds of the time devoted to supervised clinical training, with experience on medical, surgical, pediatric, obstetrical, and geriatric services. On graduation the student will be fully prepared to take her state examinations for licensure as a practical nurse. How to qualify: 1. Women and men between the ages of 18 to 45 will be accepted; 2. Applicants must be high school graduates or the equivalent; 3. A personal interview, entrance examination and physical examination will be required of all students.

For further information, call or write Mrs. Cleora C. Brown, Director of Nursing Education, Princeton Hospital, Princeton, N. J. Walnut 1-7700.

It is suggested that you make your application early, since the first class will be limited to 20 students.

Route 1 Motel Planned

Plans for a new motel, to be located at the corner of Ridge Road and U. S. Highway 1, four miles north of the Penns Neck Circle, were announced this week. Construction is already under way, and the first ten units are expected to be completed by January.

To be called the "Solar Motel," it is scheduled to expand to a total of 40 units. Each will have television, tiled baths, wall-to-wall carpeting and individually-operated heating and air-conditioning units. A continental breakfast will be served, and transportation will be provided to the Princeton Junction station.

While the motel will actually be in South Brunswick Township, its mail address will be R. D. No. 3, Princeton. Owners and operators are Mr. and Mrs. Bernardus E itenhuis of Princeton.

creased their contribution 26 percent, with $1007.75. Mettler Instrument Company reported $321.75.

THIEVES NET $4500

In Breaking into Eight Cars. Thieves took advantage of the heavy influx of visitors here for the Princeton-Yale game by breaking into eight cars, only one of which belonged to a Princeton resident. Police valued the loss of suitcases, clothing, jewelry, transistor radios, etc. at approximately $4500.

Mrs. Barbara K. Smith, 67 Randolph Road, told police that her handbag containing $40 to $50 had been stolen from her car. The bag, taken Friday night, was found a few days later in the parking area in the rear of the Cottage Club minus the money. Four of the cars, all parked in the vicinity of University Place and Dickinson Place, were entered Friday evening. The others were broken into the following night.

TOMLINSON

...a new kind of furniture that establishes its own great tradition

Now at

Schwartz Furniture Co.
"Carroll Place"

Is Pavane traditional? No...not in the sense of slavish "reproductions." Yes...in that it has chosen wisely and well among design motifs, themes, and echoes of four centuries and many lands. Is Pavane contemporary? Yes, if by "contemporary" you mean furniture that crystallizes the most cultivated of today's tastes. What is Pavane made of? Nine exciting woods... among them Karelian Burl, English Yew, English Boxwood, Rosewood...exclusive designs in solid milled brass...forged iron...Perle d'Or marble. And great good taste. Who will love Pavane? You will...if you desire lovely things ...if you'll visit our Pavane galleries today.

The Moores Got the Most

A practical joker went to work in Princeton early Monday morning and before he was through, he had moore fun with the name Moore than anybody named Moore has had in some time.

At 2:30 a.m. Monday, John F. Moore, 152 Alexander, was roused from bed by a telephone call purportedly from Western Union with the message to meet Ralph Hulit of Philadelphia for breakfast that morning at 8:30 at the Princeton Inn.

Mr. Moore, who does not know a Mr. Hulit, thought the telegraph agency had made a mistake so he called to suggest that Western Union try another John Moore. The W.U. office here had no record of any wire from a Mr. Hulit to a Mr. Moore, and neither did Trenton or New Brunswick, so the first Mr. Moore became suspicious.

He waited until somewhat later Monday and then called Ralph Hulit, who lives on—of all places—Moore Street. He found that the Hulit family had been wakened at 2:30 Monday morning by a phone call from a man who said to Ralph Hulit, "I'm John Moore, an old war buddy of yours—how about breakfast this morning at 8:30 at the Princeton Inn?"

Then John F. Moore began calling other Moores. He found that Dr. John C. Moore, College Road, and John McK. Moore, State Road, had each received the 2:30 a.m. "telegram" to meet Ralph Hulit for breakfast at the Inn. Apparently the other three John Moores in the telephone directory were not called.

John McK. Moore was curious about the whole affair and he actually went to the Inn at 8:30 a.m. Monday. No one was there to see what might have been the cream of the jest. Not even Ralph Hulit.

Gottlieb, 46 Savage Road, Franklin Park, November 13, and Mr. and Mrs. John Proveccino, 189 Harrison Street, November 15.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Asa S. Bushnell 3d November 6 in St. Francis Hospital, Trenton. The Bushnells live at 2769 Princeton Pike, Nassau Estates.

ROBBER NABBED

By Quick-Acting Police. One of the two men who robbed Percy Martin, 23 Ewing Street, last week as he was hitch-hiking a ride to Trenton has been apprehended.

Mr. Martin identified Walter Daniels, 26, of 26 Mill Street, Trenton, as one of the two men who had robbed him. Daniels was brought to court and fined $25 and $10 court costs. He was also placed on probation for a year and ordered to make restitution of the $13 stolen from Mr. Martin. The other robber is still being sought, police said.

DRIVERS FINED

In Municipal Court. Passing a car in a zone marked "no passing" cost Herman S. Ermolaeu, 35, 10 East Stanworth, $20 Monday night when given a hearing before Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams. In Princeton Township Tuesday night David C. Delacroix, 15 Harris Road, paid $25 for failure to set his hand-brake.

Two Princeton area drivers have lost their licenses for 30 days under the state's "60-70" revocation program. Richard H. Wood, Jr., 22, 35 Maple Street, and Lloyd L. Reed, 24, Lakeside Drive, Plainsboro, both have been convicted of excessive speeding.

ANNIVERSARY NOTED

Bank's 125th Cited. The significance of the 125th anniversary of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company was the theme of the November meeting of the Historical Society of Princeton, held this week in the Princeton Inn.

Bray Hammond, assistant secretary emeritus of the Federal Reserve Board, spoke on the bank's history, stressing the year 1834 as the start of mercantile and industrial development in the region between New York and Philadelphia.

TO SHOW MARIONETTES

At Valley Road School. The Valley Road-Johnson Park PTA will present the Suzari Marionettes in "Aliddin and His Wonderful Lamp" this Thursday afternoon in the auditorium of Valley Road School. Since the school will close at 12:30 for parents' conference day, there will be two performances, one at 1:30 and one at 4. Each will run for an hour and 10 minutes.

Tickets may be obtained from Hinkson's Stationery Store, Nassau Street; the Tween-Age Shoes, Shopping Center, or at the door. Admission is 70 cents for children and $1 for adults. Proceeds will go to the PTA.

OPEN MEETING ANNOUNCED

By Community Relations Group. An open meeting will be held Tuesday evening at 8 by the Princeton Community Relations Group at the Jewish Center 435 Nassau Street. The announcement was made by the Rev. Straughan

L. Gettier, 135 Harris Road, chairman of the group.

A discussion of changes over the past decade in public opinion toward integrated housing in Princeton will highlight the meeting. Four workshops will follow. These include: housing, led by Mrs. L. V. Chandler; education, led by Walter D. Wagoner; employment, led by Robert Sauber; and neighborhood relations, led by Mrs. David R. Saunders. Refreshments will be served.

THEY'VE BEEN COMMENDED

By Merit Scholarship Board. Eighteen seniors at Princeton High School have been cited for outstanding performance on the National Merit Scholarship qualifying test, given last spring. Two Hun School students and four from Miss Fine's have also received letters of commendation.

The PHS seniors are Jonathan W. Gillman, Ralph W. Herbison, Irene H. LeGoff, Christina F. Ruopp, Thomas V. Czernowski, Robert A. Randall, Marguerite H. Smith, Robert L. Blumenfeld, Nancy E. DeVore, Carolyn A. Brackett, Joseph F. Fischer, Charlotte D. Fremon, William S. Johnson, Peter R. Kann, James P. Witt, Sandra A. Johnson, Edward H. Morgan and Joan H. Yantz.

Eileen Baker, Penelope Hart, Wanda Mills and Susan Valentine have been named from Miss Fine's. The two Hun School students are Charles F. Adams and John Y. Keffer.

MAIL EARLY

For Christmas. Postmaster Charles F. Murray has requested residents to mail Christmas gifts and cards early to insure delivery on time. He said he expects this year's Christmas mail to exceed the 7,714,328 pieces that were handled by the Princeton Post Office during the 1958 holiday season.

Pamphlet No. 2, available at the post office, provides detailed information on mailing. The office also provides free labels reading, "All for Local Delivery" and "All for Out of Town Delivery." First class or air mail postage must be used if cards are to include hand-written messages or forwarding privileges.

Savings Interest to Rise

The First National Bank will raise its interest rate on regular savings accounts from 2½ to 3 percent, beginning January 1, 1960. The first bank in the Princeton-Trenton trading area to take this step, First National "is continuing to pass along the profits from increased business to its depositors," according to John Poe, president. "The increase brings our interest rate in line with that given by banks in other parts of the country," he added.

Any amount over $5 deposited in a First National savings account will draw 3 percent interest next year. Interest is paid quarterly on March 31, June 30, September 30 and December 31.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Bruce M. Eberhart, Mrs. K. M. Randall, Jr., Mrs. Robert E. Danielson, Mrs. Robert Allen, Mrs. Christie G. Enke, Mrs. Herbert Pohl, Mrs. C. O. Alley, Jr., Mrs. Harry F. King and Mrs. L. R. Caruso.

ROBSON NAMED CHAIRMAN OF PHS Lay Council. Stuart Robson, 29 Rollingwood, has been elected chairman of the Lay Council of Princeton High School. Other officers are John Gartner, vice-president, and Miss Florence Burke, secretary.

New members whose nominations were accepted unanimously include: Mrs. Paul Pollock from Plainsboro Township; Duncan Augustine from Princeton Borough; Mrs. Jess Epstein and Mrs. Robert Sinkler from Princeton Township and David MacDonald from Rocky Hill. Also W. E. Coffman, PTA representative; William Dix, member at large; and Chester Stroup, alternate for B. Woodhull Davis, superintendent of schools.

TREE MAP PREPARED For Garden Club. A map showing the location of trees in Marquand Park has been prepared by Elizabeth J. Marshall of Kent, O., for the Garden Club of Princeton. The map will be posted at the Lovers Lane parking lot near the park and copies are available at Hinkson's.

The map is designed to provide science teachers, garden enthusiasts and other interested persons with a ready means of locating particular trees. Trees in the park include cedar of Lebanon, incense cedar, metasequoia, dove tree, Chinese scholar tree and shellbark hickory.

LET'S PLAY WITH CLAY Township Starts Classes. A ceramic program for Township school children, fifth grade through high school, has been announced by the Board of Recreation Commissioners of the Township.

The first class will meet this Friday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the crafts room at Valley Road School, and an identical class will be held on Saturday from 9:30 to 11 a.m. for children who prefer that hour. The classes, under the direction of Mrs. E. E. Hoisington of the Cranbury School, will continue each week through December 19 and will be renewed after January 1 if there is sufficient interest.

PLAN NEW YEAR'S PARTY DeParis to Play. The second annual "New Year's Eve at the Nass" party is being planned by an 11-member committee. The party, limited to 100 couples, will cost $40 per couple and admission is by invitation only. Entertainment will be provided by Wilbur de Paris and his New Orleans jazz band, featuring Sidney de Paris and Sonny White.

The party, to be held at the Nassau Inn, will begin at 10 on New Year's Eve. Members of the planning committee are John Becker, William Aimen, Miss Barbara Bowman, Gus Hulit, Edward B. Jeffries, James Kennon, Robert McCarthy, Robert McHugh, Harold Ostroff, Gerald J. Skibbins and Robert Weiss.

VAN DOREN DEBATED: Does TV personality Charles Van Doren deserve to continue teaching at Columbia? Mrs. Ethel M. Shelburne thinks not, others vary in their answers to the Question of the Week.

Question of the Week

Question: Do you approve or disapprove of the action recently taken by a number of Columbia University students who tried to get Charles Van Doren reinstated as a teacher of that institution?

Where asked: Hinkson's Stationery, 74 Nassau.

Mrs. Raymond Colcord, 3 Cherry Brook Drive, housewife: I disapprove. Actually, I don't think Mr. Van Doren should be reinstated as a teacher. I say this because I think he has shown himself to be a moral weakling and even though he may be a good teacher, I don't think he should be on the faculty of a leading University. I don't think you can disassociate his moral character and his teaching ability. I think he knew when he did it he was doing wrong.

Hubert Haynes, Columbus Boychoir School, cook: No, I don't disapprove because every man can make a mistake. If he's given another chance, he may do a lot better. One mistake doesn't mean you're bad.

Mrs. Ibrahim Adawi, 35 Williams Street, housewife: I approve. I think he should be back as a teacher because I feel that his private life which includes his participation on the TV quiz has nothing to do with his job as an educator. I think the whole mistake lies with NBC.

Robert P. Rogers, 100 Stockton Street, Seminary student: I disapprove because I don't think that his confession showed very much personal integrity. I just think that it is bad policy to employ a person like Mr. Van Doren in a position that requires him to be a moulder of the character of young men. I feel that if he had confessed before all the pressure of the investigation forced him to, he would have shown his integrity. The point is: how can he shape the integrity of young men when he himself is lacking personal integrity?

Mrs. Joseph Brown, 34 Edwards Place, housewife: I disapprove of that. I think the students had a right to request his reinstatement but I'm surprsied that the students weren't dismayed at his lack of morality. I feel he should not be reinstated.

James V. Lawrence, Holder Hall, Princeton University student: I approve. I feel that the University was too hasty in dismissing Van Doren. But I also feel Van Doren has betrayed the trust that is placed in an educator.

Mrs. Ethel M. Shelburne, 80 Pardoe Road, real estate salesman. I disapprove of it because I think Charles Van Doren was committing perjury. The young people and educators had a great faith in him (he was almost a hero to them) and he let them down. I do think, however, that NBC and the sponsors should share some of the blame.

Mrs. Lee Gordenker, 46 N. Stanworth Drive, housewife: I think it is perfectly all right if they wanted to show their feelings by demonstrating for his reinstatement. He might be an excellent teacher and a great scholar but what he has done, I believe, is a lousy and immoral thing and I find it hard to decide which is the more important of the two: his reinstatement or losing a good teacher.

John A. Mooney, 92 Jefferson Road, retired: No, I don't approve of it. I don't think the students' standards are very high or consistent in asking for his return.

Mrs. Richard Will, 51 Green Street, Lawrenceville, housewife: No, I don't. He's in a position of authority over young people and that is a place where ideals should be upheld. Personally, I like Van Doren and I feel sorry about the mess he's gotten into. But I'd like to see him use his good mind in some other field not connected with University students.

Jack Lacey, 6 Franklin Terrace, bookkeeper: I think he should get his teaching job back. In the first place his TV appearances didn't have anything to do with his teaching at Columbia. Secondly, he admitted that he had gotten the answers, he didn't beat around the bush. If he had wanted to save himself at Columbia, he could have kept on lying.

Jerry Cameron, 11, Cherry Valley Road, Princeton County Day School student: Yes, I do because in the beginning he said, "Let me win fairly." I don't think Columbia University should have thrown him out because he admitted to the Senate investigation committee what he had done. He's still a good teacher and lots of other people have had mishaps.

Mrs. Alfred Coley, 45 Green Street, Lawrenceville, housewife: I approve. I believe he might have lost face but he's probably still as good an English teacher as he ever was. I think it's very nice if he has some loyal supporters. I imagine he needs them.

ing which means that once you do the fine tuning necessary to get Dinah Shore in proper perspective, you never need to fine-tune that particular channel again.

Motorola, in some models has a swivel base. RCA, also at University Appliances, stands still.

Do it yourself zealots may make their own music on a couple of electric chord organs we've found around town. One, at University Appliances, is $159.95, by Excelsior. It has about tow and a half octaves for your melodic right hand and two rows of buttons (major and minor) for left-hand chords. Top folds down to make a tidy little mahogany case.

Audion is the chord organ at the U. Store. It comes in leg or console style for $129 and $180 and you play it in the same way.

Zoom! The big thing this year for the fast lens gang is the zoom lens which you attach to a movie camera if you want to bring those bikinis down the beach into closer camera range. It's a combination of wide angle, normal and telephoto lens, actually.

We found it at Mall Camera, Princeton Shopping Center, on a Bolex 8 mm. camera. Bolex is a precision Swiss camera which measures only the light that actually comes into your lens. Bolex starts its prices at $89 and goes on up to infinity, depending on the lenses you choose. These zoom things are $79.50 to $90.50 at Mall.

The advanced amateur in motion picture photography will be delighted this year if you give him either the Bolex H-8 or H-16 They are $250 up to $1000 or so, and we are not going to describe them because we are the Brownie type, for one thing, and anyway if you're enough of a pro to own one of these models you know what they can do already.

Bolex projects your work on a $140.50 precision projector.

University Store's camera department is devoted to Bolex and the zoom lens, too. They point out that, with this Pan Cinor 30 "DV" lense you have almost the flexibility of a turret camera.

Back at Mall Camera, we find the Agfa Optima (Mall is authorized Agfa for this area), a fully-automatic 35 mm. camera which you just point and shoot. Aperture, shutter speed are automatically set. It will also do things like set at 1-37 of a second, or other in-between speeds, if required.

The Minolta SR-2 single lens reflex is another Mall favorite. ($240.50). There is a full bag of lenses and accessories you can buy for this camera, including a 2 8 telephoto lens at $129.50.

Best in 35 mm. Cameras. Mall and U Store like the Leica M-2 and M-3, regarded by many as the best 35-mm. cameras made.

MERRY CHRISTMAS FROM UNICEF: The profits from a box of 10 Christmas cards, priced at $1.25, will buy a glass of milk every day for a week for 45 children and that's why the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom is selling UNICEF Greeting cards. Mrs. Maurice Glicksman, 24 Broadrippie Drive, left, looks over the cards offered by Mrs. Hugo Bedau, 221-A Halsey, center, and Mrs. Laren Johnston, 101 Overbrook Drive. Cards may be seen at the homes of Mrs. Bedau and Mrs. Johnston and ordered through them by calling WA 1-6508 or WA 1-6118. They will also be available this Thursday at the League's Bazaar, Princeton Shopping Center.

Mall has an exquisite little machine, with meter for $432, but they can be had for as low (!) as $276.

Highland's Pentax single lens reflex is on the U. Store Counter, billed as the first quality camera with fully interchangeable lenses and a price tag as low as $179.50.

One of the happiest Christmas presents for the beginning photographer who hasn't yet built a dark-room, is Beseler's Dreamy Darkroom Kit, available at Mall for $195. Add up its components and you find they come to $287, so the price represents savings which can then be spent on more photographic equipment.

There is a 23C enlarger, trays, developing tanks, timers, negative carriers—the list is too long to detail. All you need, say the Beseler people, is the space.

A Girl's Best Friend. A limpid and lovely pearshaped diamond ring, simply and superbly set in platinum, with a marquise on each side, is LaVake—Reid's suggestion for a Christmas present. It's $2500.

Another diamond ring, 1.68 karats, is emerald cut with tapered baguettes on each side.

LaVake-Reid lines up a circle of 24 small diamonds inside two concentric circles of white gold to make a charming one-and-one-half inch circle pin for $625.

---

A row of emerald cut tourmalines lies inside a double track of gold in a flexible bracelet which costs $365. If you'd like a necklace the Nassau Street jeweler suggests an add-a-diamond affair to which you may affix an additional cluster of nine tiny diamonds set in gold, every time you have an anniversary or win a cake-baking prize or add a cubit to your stature.

There is also a beautiful little pear-shaped drop, clear as a tear, pendant from a platinum chain: $475.

For a ring to make Christmas bells ring, LaVake has a royal jade with three diamonds on each side. Royal, a brilliant, high-color jade, has been carved in oval shape and left unframed.

The man of the house, who will doubtless be writing checks for all these TV sets, cameras and diamond rings, might like Omega's $300 18-karat gold Chronometer watch, timed and passed by the Swiss Government.

Provincial? Early American? Living as we do in the provinces, there is nothing more natural than our apparent preference for provincial furniture. You'll find it everywhere you shop this Christmas, next to the early American and the oiled-walnut modern. Why not give your house the "big" gift this year?

Manning's, on the Lawrenceville Road, carries the fine furniture made by Heritage, and this year the shop likes three giant sofas, suitable for your living-room whether you're provincial or urban. They come in 76, 86 (standard) or 96-inch lengths, with upholstered arms, tufted backs or plain, and a choice of fabric and skirt style that is almost unlimited.

Heritage also makes an 18th-century wing chair with deep wings, straight legs and a foam-spring cushion of something called Equation I.

Carroll Peloe, New Brunswick, has Provincial Gallery pieces like the fruit-wood-finish cherry breakfront with its gentle front bowing and its big center door knobs.

An antiqued gold finish buffet with travertine top is also part of Provincial Gallery.

The same house has Collector's Gallery, a slightly more formal group that retains a provincial air in the antique brass gallery that partially surrounds a low buffet, the mahogany with a patina like greyed walnut, or the 76-inch buffet that might have come from a Spanish country house. A tall china closet from this group has a damask back at the moment, but it could have a backing of your choice to blend with your finest exhibition china pices.

Pan Asian, at Schwartz, has a four-and-one-half foot buffet in a swarthy wood with walnut edging. Doors have two squares, each filled with a single lotus blossom.

"Investment Pieces." The Dixon-Powdermaker people have Toscana, a tawny group made of solid magnolia wood. Tomlinson, at Schwartz, has the new Pavane, described in detail in these columns last month, and the simpler Sophisticate. These two lines and the groups named above, all have imposing investment pieces like breakfronts, long chests of doors and drawers suitable for almost any room in the house, some of them inlaid richly, others decorative in their simplicity.

For devotees of early American reproductions, two furniture houses, Kling and Pennsylvania House have sturdy, beautifully made hutches, harvest tables, dry sinks converted to bars, drop-leaf or round tables that add the glow of an 18th century hearth to a modern home.

Mannings displays solid cherry, maple and mahogany by Kling, favoring perhaps the solid rock maple chest-on-chest, single bed and door-shelf-drawer units that make such practical furniture for a child's room.

Pennsylvania House has a tall Governor Winthrop desk, 36 inches wide by 80 inches tall, and enough drop-leaf and round tables to stock a tavern.

At the Lawrence Road Manning's, you'll find upholstered pieces by Pennsylvania, including wing chairs and sofas, some with wood trim others upholstered throughout. The choice of fabrics is wide.

Pennsylvania also gives you a choice of glass in your breakfront: "crown" (humped in the middle like an old-fashioned glass brick), cathedral (crumpled, like stained glass only clear) and plain. This line, and the Kling solid cherry pieces are at Schwartz, Manning's and the Rug Mart.

Furniture with a Bounce. Rug Mart goes on in the early American line with "The Virginian," Kroehler's wing upholstered furniture with a modern bounce. Solid core rubber wrapped with acrilan gives the feel of down and the resiliency of foam. There are swivel chairs, wing sofas, corner sectionals, love seats, chairs and ottomans, hostess chairs and an armful of fabrics from which to choose.

Nassau Interiors sends you home with that bunk bed the boys have always wanted. Hard-rock maple, tough as an eight-year-old, with the special "bunkie" mat tress that eliminates the need for springs. Comes to $139. Dressers, chests, desks and bookcases match to make a perfect child's suite.

"Criteria" is the new adult line in this store, featuring the breakfront that seems to be in everybody's dining - room these days. This one has cane across the lower half of the glass door, cane-wrapped handles and a pleasant bleached walnut finish. The dining table can be oval, drop-leaf or extension. Chairs have double spindles for backs, or cane.

For the Christmas guest, Nassau Interiors has a 75-inch foam lounge, modern style, which converts into a full double bed, 66 inches wide and 75 inches long, or two singles, each 33. As is, off the floor: $259.

Mannings has Simmons Hide-A-Beds in modern or colonial style, from $199.

Under it all, why not have an American Oriental rug by Karastan, $389.50 for a lifetime 9x12 covering for your best floor.

Princeton Decorating Shop on Palmer Square takes you into the past with a Windsor arrow-back pine chair from 1790, priced at $95 and a Dutch table cupboard, two feet high, bowed across the front and fitted with three shelves for $90.

There's a Cambrai table at $144, made of fruitwood with a drawer at each end of its 36-inch length, and legs that curve just enough for grace.

Down the street at The Silver Shop is a small mahogany Sheraton breakfront, its veneer arranged in a modified star pattern. It's 44-inches wide, about six feet tall, and close to 70 years old. It is compact enough for a hall or small dining-room and you can easily tell how it will look in your house because The Silver Shop uses it at the moment for the display of fine silver.

Clean and Cold. Appliances to keep you clean, dry and well-fed are just as close as an electric outlet and a check book.

Topics Of The Town

HEADS NURSING SCHOOL

Mrs. Brown Named. Mrs. Cleora C. Brown has been named director of nursing education for the new School of Practical Nursing of Princeton Hospital, it was announced this week by John W. Kauffman, hospital administrator. Mrs. Brown will plan the curriculum and serve as head of the new school, which is scheduled to open in January.

Formerly of Kansas City and Independence, Mo., Mrs. Brown has had wide experience in the field of practical nursing. She is a graduate of Missouri Methodist Hospital School of Nursing in St. Joseph, Mo., and received her B. S. degree from the College of St. Teresa in Kansas City, Mo.

For the past two years, Mrs. Brown has been with the National Association for Practical Nurse Education, conducting leadership workshops throughout the country. She has also served as director of a public health agency, as program director of the American Heart Association, and as assistant director of the University of Kansas Medical Center School of Practical Nursing.

Applications for the first class at Princeton Hospital's new school are now being accepted. The class will be limited to 20 students. With the exception of this class, which will enter in January, there will be two classes a year, one beginning in March and one in September. The period of instruction will cover 52 weeks, with one-third of the time devoted to pre-clinical instruction and two-thirds to supervised clinical training on the hospital floors, including experience on medical, surgical, pediatric, obstetrical and geriatric services.

SEEK USED TOYS

For Christmas Workshop. An appeal for donations of used toys which can be repainted or repaired to make eral Christmas gifts has been issued by the YWCA Y-Teen Toy Workshop. When reconditioned by the workshop, the toys will be given to the Family Service Agency and used in response to private requests for the holidays.

Dolls, doll dresses, cars, trucks, wagons, mechanical toys, usable games and any other items in reasonably good condition are requested. They should be labeled, "For the Y-Teen Workshop" and left at Y-Pool Building on Avalon Place. Contributions of money will also be gratefully received and will be used for material necessary to recondition the toys and to wrap and label them.

Bus Trip Saturday. Plans for a bus trip this Saturday to the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia have been announced by Mrs. John Justice, teen-age program director for the Princeton YWCA. The trip is open to girls from the 4th, 5th and 6th grades, whether members of the YWCA or not.

At the Institute, the girls will see a planetarium demonstration, inspect a railroad steam engine and learn the story of oil production and other similar projects. The trip will conclude with a tour of Independence Hall. The bus will leave the YWCA at 9 and return at 4. Those interested in going should call the YWCA, WA 4-4825.

HOBBY SHOW HELD

By Cub Pack 88. A hobby show was staged at the opening meeting of Cub Scouts of Pack 88, held at Princeton Methodist Church. A ribbon for the best exhibit was awarded to Den 30. Harvey Hook, leader of Explorer Post 88, acting for Cubmaster W. S. Niles, spoke at a briefing session for the Cubs, while Fritz Hines, Scoutmaster of Troop 88, addressed a separate session of parents.

New bobcats welcomed into the pack included Richard Gibbs, Robert Gibson, Charles Kennedy, Daniel Lewis, Robert Navin and Robert Ellis. Awards were presented to Brendan Stecchini, Frederick Goetz, Erik Whisler, Irvin Urken, Jeff Briggs, Paul Stange and Karl Stange. Den 1 received a blue ribbon for earning the most awards.

GRIGGSTOWN DANCE SET

Annual Thanksgiving Affair. The Griggstown Volunteer Fire Company will hold its annual Thanksgiving Dance at the Firehouse November 21.

Joe Wacker and his orchestra will play at the event. In charge of arrangements are Ernest Camp, Walter Sacheim, and Kenneth Hermann.

In Princeton

SYMPHONY OPENS SEASON

Warm Reception Accorded. The Princeton Symphony Orchestra opened its 1959-1960 season with the first in its three-concert series on Monday evening in McCarter Theatre. The concert was well-attended and every work performed, whether classical or contemporary, was warmly and enthusiastically acknowledged.

Two soloists were featured on this program, both members of the music faculty of Princeton University. Earl Kim appeared as composer-pianist in a performance of his new work, Dialogues for Piano and Orchestra, which was commissioned by the Fromm Foundation. Sparse in texture and obscure, Mr. Kim's work is interesting for its imaginative experimentation with orchestral color.

Upon first hearing, its general impression is that of angularity and percussiveness and with the exception of a middle section scored for string quartet, contains a minimum of lyric quality. It is rather unfortunate that the work does not have more solo passages for piano; Mr. Kim appears to be a sensitive player, and his work could, perhaps, have featured the solo pianist more than it did.

George M. Jones, first clarinetist of the Princeton Symphony, was soloist in Aaron Copland's Concerto for Clarinet and Orchestra, composed in 1947-48 for the great jazz artist, Benny Goodman. Mr. Jones plays with a fine, mellow tone, and with great facility, especially as evidenced in the difficult cadenza bridging the two movements of the Copland work. The appeal of this concerto seems to be mainly in its continually changing, "catchy" rhythmic patterns, derived from North American jazz and South American dances, and in the increasing demands it makes upon the virtuosity of the soloist, as the final movement progresses.

The orchestra itself gave its best performance in the Beethoven "Egmont" Overture, an unusual choice, perhaps, to end the program, but most effective in this instance. One felt a spark of excitement in the final portion which tended to unify the group into producing a flourishing finish.

The Haydn "Oxford" Symphony, which opened the program, never quite got off the ground, with the exception, perhaps, of the last movement. The orchestral balance in the first movement was somewhat marred by an unnecessary strength in the brass section, which tended, at times, to overpower melodic passages in the strings; the tempo of the "minuetto" was a little too cautious.

In general, this first Princeton Symphony concert was quite successful, and gratifying in that it showed a positive support of contemporary composition by members of the local community. It would be well to let Princeton audiences become better acquainted with the symphony members through recitals, perhaps - either singly or in chamber groups. With the large number of musicians living in Princeton and surrounding areas, there should be opportunities for many more concerts, and judging from the musical enthusiasm here, they could very possibly become an important contribution to the town's cultural life.

DYER-BENNET A DELIGHT

Audience Pays Him Tribute. Among the greatest compliments a performer can receive from his audience is an unspoken one — the electrically-charged stillness of a group which is listening as one person, giving undivided, undistracted attention as though of one mind, and bursting into applause of the same explosive moment.

SOLOIST: JANICE HARSANYI, Princeton soprano, will sing this Tuesday in the first concert of a new series sponsored by Princeton Seminary.

Richard Dyer-Bennett, in his folksong program at McCarter Theatre on Saturday night, proved again that he possesses a quality which few concert artists can claim — that of holding an audience spellbound, of manipulating its reactions through the projection of the emotional content of a given piece of music.

Mr. Dyer-Bennett, appearing in Princeton under the auspices of Dana Attractions, Inc., is not only an eminent folksinger, but a re-

Paid Fire Department Needed?

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

Last evening I had an experience which disturbed me very much. I had just left the Country Day School at about 10:30 when the fire alarm sounded.

I continued to drive at the legal rate of 25 miles an hour and in a couple of minutes I was in front of the Harrison Street fire house. Here, all was dark with no one in sight and all the doors closed. As I continued on to the intersection of Hamilton Avenue with Harrison, two cars approached from the right, which I assumed were bound for the fire house and contained volunteer firemen.

For these to get to the fire house and get equipment started on its way would consume at least a couple of minutes more. All these minutes and seconds added together would be enough for children trapped in a burning house to perish.

Rescue before these minutes had gone by might be sufficient to save them. That my children might be in this predicament was the thought that immediately struck my mind.

It seems to me that it is from this point of view that we should approach the question of the adequacy of our system of fire protection. In the past, the high rating given the community by the insurance companies had been used as evidence that no changes are necessary. However, this is considering only the question of property loss.

The real matter is one concerning human lives. The one can be eased by the payment of insurance benefits. The other cannot. What we must decide is not whether our system can handle the job of minimizing the loss of real estate, but whether it can act quickly enough to prevent the loss of human life.

It is my contention that no system based on volunteers can get rescue equipment to the scene of trouble so fast as one employing full-time professionals. This in no way is meant to disparage the civic-minded spirit of the volunteer companies nor their competence to perform their work.

It is only a recognition that the greatest of men operating with the finest of tools can do nothing unless they can be at the place where their services are needed and in time to be most effective. The difference between life and death in house fires is often a matter of seconds. What we must consider is whether we are willing to entrust the safety of our families to an arrangement which by its very nature must take a longer time to start operations than another one might.

Up to now I have been unable to get a satisfactory answer to any inquiries I have made about the Princeton fire protection system. It has been of the nature of a sacred cow which must not be questioned. This has led me to wonder whether such an attitude is not due to a fear that shortcomings will be uncovered which will lead to a demand for changes.

I have even been told that the present set-up is of value because of the social side of the companies which means a great deal to their membership. With this reasoning I can have no sympathy. I can see no connection between it and the real purpose of the organizations.

Perhaps it is that the volunteer system is a survival of something once suitable, which does not meet the needs of a greatly expanded community. My sincere belief is that there should be an immediate airing of the whole matter with the public given an opportunity to decide whether the present arrangement for fire protection and rescue meets their needs. It will probably cost tax money to change things, and I as a taxpayer do not look happily upon the idea of any further increases. But I also wonder whether, when we put the cost of such things first, we are not putting a price on the safety of human beings.

nowed musicologist as well. His knowledge and understanding of the historical background of the songs in his vast repertoire far surpasses that of the average folksinger, but he takes care to present the essential facts about each song in an un-academic manner, stressing the human aspects rather than the historical significance of folk music.

Mr. Dyer-Bennet's research has not been limited to folksongs of the British Isles and the United States (though the study of the wealth of folk music from these locales has comprised the lifework of many a folk-scholar), nor does he exclude the art song from his repertoire. His program on Saturday, announced from the stage, presented songs of France and Germany (sung in the original language) as well as those of the British Isles and America, and many of them were identified as art songs, the remainder being songs of the people, passed down orally through generations.

Mr. Dyer-Bennett, in true scholarly tradition, has been careful to preserve the original lute or guitar accompaniments of his art songs, arranging only the keyboard accompaniments for performance on the guitar. His own folksong accompaniments at all times enhanced the songs themselves, and were refreshingly unlike the frequently unimaginative "chord-strumming" of many less sensitive folksingers.

For purposes of folksong concerts, one might wish for a more informal atmosphere than that offered by McCarter Theatre — one room, perhaps, where the audience might be closer to the folksinger, and possibly even seated on the floor. However, despite the physical distance between Mr. Dyer-Bennet and his audience on Saturday night, not one ounce of rapport was lost.

That his fascinated listeners were reluctant to see the program end was evident by his three encores and the enthusiastic applause which lasted even after the house lights were turned on. It is hoped that Mr. Dyer-Bennett will make an annual visit to Princeton, for his type of program is indeed a rare treat.

SERIES INAUGURATED

By Princeton Seminary. A series of free musical programs to be known as the Princeton Theological Seminary Community Artist Series will be launched next Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. with a recital by Janice Harsanyi, Princeton soprano. Mrs. Harsanyi will sing in the Campus Center Auditorium on the Seminary campus.

Tuesday's program will include selections from Purcell, Handel, Grieg and Gershwin and a group of Negro spirituals. Mrs. Louise Strunsky, Princeton pianist and soloist with the Princeton Symphony Orchestra, will accompany Mrs. Harsanyi.

A showing of contemporary art will be on display at the Center through the courtesy of The Little Gallery.

CONCERT SCHEDULED

University Orchestra to Play. Princeton University's Symphony Orchestra will present its first concert of the season this Sunday at 3:30 in Alexander Hall under the direction of Nicholas Harsanyi, the orchestra's regular conductor. Admission is free.

The featured work of the afternoon will be the Mozart Concerto for Bassoon and Orchestra in B Flat, K. 191, with Gary Martin, class of 1960, as soloist. Mr Martin has been studying the bassoon for 12 years and was played with the Tulsa, Okla., symphony orchestra.

For the remainder of the program, Mr Harsanyi has chosen Handel's suite from "The Faithful Shepherd" as arranged by Sir Thomas Beecham and Bartok's nine Hungarian peasant songs which the composer transcribed in 1933 from his suite of 15 peasant songs for solo piano.

It's New To Us

Van Zandt, in Blawenburg, has the CE-700, CE-702 and CE-701 to do your washing and drying. The Philco Dunmatic CE-704 at $169 is the fastest combination washer-dryer ever concocted, so they say. It has air-fluff dry for towels, superfast for just plain drying and wash-and-wear for the so-called delicate fabrics.

There is a liquid bleach dispenser that spews it into the rinse water, and a rhythm spin that goes off and on so that clothes can settle and apron strings cannot get wound around pajamas. It has 35 fewer parts than any washing machine. (Ours has fewer parts than it used to, as a matter of fact, but Philco does it deliberately)

Those CE-700 and CE-702's are just about the same but not quite so fancy and somewhat cheaper: $329 and $399.95, respectively.

Philco washing-machine models range from $149 to $369, and there is a dryer to match each machine. Complete service on all appliances from this store.

Philco's new refrigerator, 12 cu. ft. size, now has a magnetic door. With separate freezer door, this model is $399.95. It defrosts automatically. Philcos at Van Zandt start at $168 and move to up to a $359 model with Lazy Susan shelf, a Misty Crisper (whoops!) and a giant freezer down below. (Yes, grandfather, it will probably hold most of that 219-pound buck, but don't you have just lots of friends who adore venison?)

Another refrigerator in the Van Zandt stable is a 12.3 cu. ft. model with automatic defrost; only $259 with your trade-in.

Nassau Service, which has Philco, too, likes the idea of a KitchenAid Portable Dishwasher for Christmas. It will hold (and wash, which is possibly more important) 10 pace settings.

An under-the-counter dishwasher, which always sounds furtive somehow, might cost $229 at Nassau Service because that's their lowest Kitchenaid or Hotpoint price. You can go up to $500 if you want to.

Just because it's winter, RCA offers an "Early Bird" (Late Bird, by us) air-conditioner special: $219.95 and up. Have a cool Yule.

The size of a portable dishwasher—that's Frost Queen, by Carrier, a 2-cu. ft. freezer for people with small appetites. Costs $149.95.

And just to show you we've made a clean sweep (the witticism is grandfather's, not ours), we end with Whirlpool's new vacuum cleaners at Nassau Service. Three models, from $39.95, designed as tank or tank and upright combined.

SPORTS In Princeton

END OF THE TRAIL

And a Rocky One, Too. It's been a long time since the Princeton football squad reported to Blairstown for pre-season practice early last September. Since then, all of the bright hopes for the 1959 campaign have been dimmed and no matter what the outcome of Saturday's game with Dartmouth, the year at Princeton will remain disappointing.

The contest with the Indians has, in the past two years, decided the Ivy title. This season, the Green still has a shot at successful defense of the championship it won last fall, but will have to have help in the form of a Cornell victory over Pennsylvania on Thanksgiving Day. The kickoff in the Stadium is set for 1:30.

In losing to Yale last Saturday, 38 to 20, Princeton failed to win from either of its Big Three rivals for the first time since 1946. Now pegged at 4-4, the Tigers are also in danger of experiencing their first losing season in 13 years.

Only once since the war has Princeton managed to come back with a victory over Dartmouth after losing to Yale. That was two years ago, when the Tigers were beaten by the Elis, 20-13, but could still win the Ivy championship by trimming the Green. This they did (in the snow, of course) 34-13.

Indians at Full Strength. For the first time in four years, Dartmouth this fall was away to a slow start. In addition to losing to a pair of non-Ivy foes, the Hanover contingent was defeated by Penn and then held to a scoreless tie by Brown.

Primary reason for this was successive injuries to a trio of key players whose absence severely hobbled the Green's offense. Bill Gundy, captain and quarterback was the first casualty, followed by all-Ivy halfback Jake Crouthamel and then fullback Bill Hibbs. The latter, a converted end, plays in the slot and does much of the blocking in Coach Bob Blackman's V formation.

In sharp contrast to Princeton, the Indians come into the contest with a four-game winning streak under their belts — successive victories over Harvard, Yale, Columbia and Cornell. Average in size, they are fast and experienced, but a shade on the short side in depth.

The starting backfield of Gundy, Crouthamel, Hibbs and Al

DECEPTION BEDEVILS TIGER: Yale quarterback Tom Singleton (10) has completed fake on "belly series" to fullback Rich Winkler (not in picture) and is rolling out to pass to halfback Nick Kangas (21). Deception on line buck drew Princeton defenders in as Kangas took the aerial alone in end zone for two-point conversion and 8-7 lead midway in first period. Same play gave Elis a fourth-period TD in 38-20 victory.

Rozycki sees far more action than its replacements, as do the regulars in the line. Seth Strickland, 218-lb., 6-3 end is possibly the standout up front, but tackles Lee Horschman and Sam Bowlby and guard Bob Boye are all highly capable operatives.

Tiger Defense Cracks. More so than in any key game in years which it had entered as an even bet, Princeton lost its defensive ability in last week's defeat by Yale. No power on attack this season — its top point production was 23 against Cornell, and it had been averaging only two touchdowns its first seven games, the Blue broke loose against Princeton for three touchdowns and a field goal in the second quarter.

Added to the eight points the victors had chalked up in the opening period, this propelled them to a startling 31-13 half-time lead. In all, they ran and passed for 363 yards, paced by the top-flight play of quarterback Tom Singleton. Voted the best back of the game, he was successful in all eight of his passes — largely because of his ability, partially because Princeton was defending against the long ones, and also because the Tigers were not as sharp in covering receivers as they might have been.

The story of the game was unfolded in a matter of four minutes early in the second quarter. Trailing, 13 to 8, Yale achieved a 97-yard kickoff return when Lou Muller grabbed the ball on the three, handed off to Nick Kangas on the 11 and the decayed Princeton defense never got a shot at him.

When this major error was followed by Yale's recovery of the ensuing kickoff after the ball bounced off the foot of a Tiger lineman, the fat was in the fire. The wheed-up Elis promptly went 46 yards in ten plays, booted the point after touchdown and had a 22-13 lead as early as 4:37 of the second quarter.

Tigers Score First. Able to launch a 61-yard march the first time it came into possession, Princeton gave its best offensive display of the season on Saturday — and still was badly outclassed long before the final whistle. Mike Ippolito capped the initial drive by wedging over from point-blank range, and after Yale had taken an 8-7 advantage, the Tiger reserves scored with equal facility on the third play of the second period. Hugh Scott got this one.

The deluge followed, and although Princeton had the ability to strike back for a TD by Dan Sachs in the third quarter, Yale matched this effort and the margin remained unchanged. It was greatly to the Tigers' credit that they gave no sign of falling apart, and that they controlled much of the play in the second half.

The damage, however, had been done by the kickoff return—in all probability the longest in Palmer Stadium history — and the fumble recovery on the following kickoff. Added to that was Princeton's inability to defend against line bucks on straight handoffs, plays on which the Elis consistently averaged three or four yards as they achieved a high degree of possession-type football.

The failureof the Tigers to remain in contention for the Ivy title, and their inability to handle Harvard and Yale teams which fielded much the same personnel that Princeton beat last year, is likely to move into sports history here as an unsolved puzzle. Having lost relatively little when the Class of 1959 graduated, and bolstered with juniors and seniors who had all gone unbeaten as freshmen, better than average material was at hand.

With only the Dartmouth game left, the Tigers have not put together one topflight performance this season. Against Pennsylvania (18-0) and Harvard (14-0), they were beaten because their offense failed to mesh; when they rolled for three touchdowns against Yale, the presumably solid defense fell apart.

Has anyone ever said that a football takes funny bounces?

PHS WINS COUNTY CROWN

Season Has Merriwell Ending. Two big victories in three days enabled Princeton High School to turn a so-so season into a highly respectable 5-2-1 record. A final, come - from - behind victory over Ewing High School returned the mythical Mercer County Title to PHS to enhance further the football endeavors of the Little Tigers this year.

Three days after each had scored a touchdown in PHS's 14-12 upset of Long Branch, Ridge Applegate and Russ Perone did it again to lead the Little Tigers to a 13-7 win over the Ewing Blue Devils. In an evenly fought first half, both teams picked up seven first downs and scored a TD, John Carrozza's successful PAT kick giving Ewing a 7-6 edge. The outcome was decided in the second half as PHS ran up nine more first downs, one of which was a 74-yard touchdown jaunt by Perone, while a stubborn Little Tiger defense led by Dave Smith was holding the visitors to two first downs.

PHS Exploits Ewing Weakness. In the scoreless first period, Ewing moved the ball much more consistently than PHS, which did not record its initial first down until the last play of the period when a Jack Hawkins to Perone pass connected for 18 yards to the Blue Devil 43. At this juncture, Princeton High started to exploit a weakness in the right side of the Ewing line. On identical plays over right tackle, fullback Ted Meredith plunged for 24 yards in three plays and was en route for another eight-yard gain when he fumbled away the ball on the Ewing 17.

Ewing kept the Little Tiger drive alive by immediately fumbling on the same 17 yard-stripe, John Everson recovering for the Blue and White. On the next play, Applegate raced down and out, got one step ahead of his defender and took Hawkins' pass in the end zone for the TD. Ewing was offside on Howard Gould's unsuccessful kick for the PAT but PHS was unable to capitalize on the reprieve as Hawkins, in trying to run the ball over, was stopped short of the goal.

Ewing Goes Ahead. Ewing wasn't behind long. Gould's kick-off went out of bounds on the visitors' 40 and Steve Muench's eleven covered the remaining 60 in 13 plays to tie the score. Dave Shaddell, who did most of the gaining on runs over the left side of the Little Tiger line, scored the TD on a 10-yard screen pass. Carrozza kicked the extra point to give Ewing a one-point lead.

Princeton High started the second half with a bang, marching from its 30 to the Ewing five in eight plays. Hawkins carried on five of the eight for 45 yards. In four tries, however, it could not make the last five and the drive stalled.

As the fourth period wore on, it appeared as if Ewing would make its slim lead hold up when the tenor of the game suddenly changed. After Hawkins and Meredith had carried PHS from deep in its territory to the 24, Perone, playing in spite of a badly bruised rib, cut inside to his left, broke to the outside and then, with the help of a key block by Lamont Fletcher, raced down the sidelines for a stunning 74-yard gallop and his eighth touchdown of the season. This time Gould didn't miss, making it 13-7.

HUN DROPS THIRD IN ROW

Faces Delbarton in Finale. The Hun football squad will play its last game of the season Friday when it faces powerful Delbarton High School on the Green Wave's home field. For Hun it will mark the end of a disappointing season in which the Red and Black, with returning letterman in most positions, had high expectations of not only duplicating but bettering last fall's 4-2-1 winning season, Hun's first since 1951.

Last Saturday George School of Newtown, Pa., won its fifth straight at Hun's expense, 12 to 8, coming from behind to score in the final period. After the visitors had tallied in the first period to go ahead, 6-0, two plays by Princeton boys gave Hun a two-point lead in the second quarter, Pat Donahue took a Paul Kadlic loss on the 20 and raced the remaining distance for the six-pointer. In a wild and woolly play, Gary Grover successfully ran the PAT to give Hun an 8-6 lead.

Hun was unable to contain George School, a team it had shut out last year, as Andy Flesbner, who scored its first touchdown, added the winning tally on a four-yard plunge. Hun now stands 2-4 for the season and not even a win over highly-touted Delbarton can prevent it from ending up in the red. Delbarton crushed Hun last fall, 32-0.

Hun line coach Squier Ball reported that the outstanding lineman for Hun against George School was Pete Savidge and that, in the backfield, Paul Kadlic "played an extremely good game." Typical of Kadlic's heads-up play was the PAT play which put Hun in the lead. On that play, Kadlic, on a reverse around right

RIDGE APPLEGATE
Princeton High End

Princeton High's football team finished its 1959 season with a pair of close, well-earned victories, defeating Long Branch and Ewing in a space of 72 hours. In each case, the margin was slim—two points over Long Branch and six against Ewing. Both victories were made possible because sure-fingered Ridge Applegate held firmly on to an end zone pass for a touchdown.

But Applegate, who at 17 is already 6-1 and 203 pounds, is more than just a good pass receiver. Coach Joe Jingoli credits him with making the off-tackle plays (known as the "bread-and-butter" of the single wing) work so well for PHS because of his blocking. On defense, he is rated high in diagnosis and ability, and was used this fall as both a defensive tackle and a line-backer.

Applegate, who hopes to be playing freshman football a year from now at a college as yet unselected, is labelled by Jingoli as "a boy that is coachable." Joe means that his pupil is able to follow and benefit from instruction, a prerequisite to becoming a good athlete.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis R. Applegate, 123 Shadybrook Lane, Ridge is a "triple-threat" in the spring when the track season rolls around.

Strictly a field events entrant because of his unusual size, the PHS co-captain in this sport throws the discus and the javelin and puts the shot. In non-athletic extra-curricular activities, he is vice-president of the Boys' Athletic Council at PHS.

Winning the county title and improving its 4-1 record of a year ago to 5-2-1, Princeton High moved well up the scholastic football ladder in central New Jersey. Ridge Applegate played a solid part in this progress, and there is good reason to believe that his college career (possibly at Rutgers) will bring similar reports of his contributions to team achievements.

end, was trapped from behind and in reversing himself he was again trapped before finally lateraling to Grover who went over for the two points.

In the wake of so much promise, Ball advanced two reasons for Hun's poor showing this year. "One of the things that hurt us most has been penalties," he said, "especially off-side penalties. The boys have been jumping the snap from center. Time and again, these off-side penalties have stopped drives for us."

Another thing that has contributed to Hun's poor performance has been its inexperience. "True," Ball reported, "we were supposed to have experienced men in every position but Dave Savidge got hurt on the first play of the season and was out for most of the year, John Ward, our starting fullback, was injured and unable to play, although he did see some action as a defensive guard; another guard was hurt and two first-string tackles did not return this year." In short, Ball said that Hun was never able to field a team composed of more than four or five experienced players.

PCD SEASON ENDS

In Fall Sports, Princeton Country Day soccer and football teams brought their seasons to a close during the past week as both suffered defeats. The Blue and White was set back by Witherspoon School in soccer, 2-0, with David Hill scoring both goals. A record of three victories, three ties and four defeats was compiled this fall.

Pingry outscored the football team, 19 to 7. Pepper Pettit averting a whitewash for the losers with a third-period touchdown and conversion. The Blue and White eleven won two out of five, one of the triumphs coming over Newark Academy for the first time in PCD history.

Turkey Shoot Sunday

The Patrolmen's Benevolent Association will hold a turkey shoot Sunday at the Squatters' Grove, Quaker Road.

The event is open to the public, with each target costing $1. The shoot will last from 9 to 5, with Sunday, November 29, set as the rain date.

BOWLING NOTES

Roses Win. The Roses (23) posted five victories last week to edge the Kleibers (22) and win the first - round title in the Mixed League. Runners - up were the Scuieratis, with 14 triumphs. Betty Kleiber rolled a 175-192-192 (559) series, the best three-game series bowled by a woman at Princeton Recreation Center this season.

Tiger Garage (40) held onto its lead in the Industrial loop, but second-place Dayton Five (38) added six victories to cut Tiger's margin to two games. Nassau Service (31) is third. Leaders in the "A" League are Shelton Motors (46), Deckers Dairy (38) and Farr Hardware (36).

In the "B" League, Walker Gordon added four triumphs to deadlock Cifelli Electric at 40-all. Jefferson Plumbing (36) and Maul Electric (34) are other contenders. The Rams and the Lions are tied at 6-all in the newly formed high school boys' circuit.

Cifelli Electric (64), tied last week with Forsgate Country Club, registered six wins to assume undisputed control of the lead in the Women's Industrial League. Nassau Service is second with 60 victories, followed by Forsgate (58).

Notable individual scores: Sara Rose, 201, and Wilton Rose, 194, in the Mixed League; Bruce Ferguson, 222, and Julius Kish, 209, in the Industrial League; Bill Dumble, 204, in the "A" League; Dick Edwards, 221; Don Snyder, 217 and Tony Tamasi, 210, in the "B" League.

Also, Joel High, 201, and Jerry Racciopi, 188, in the high school boys' league, and Betty Frazee, 183-167; Marilyn Sylvester, 181; Dot Moore, 179-167; Marge Weiland, 173; Gil DeVido, 172, and Betty Kleiber, 172-161, in the Women's Industrial League.

RESEARCH
is an Ingredient of Industrial Success in New Jersey?

The human brain is the most important ingredient in successful research . . . and research is one of the most important ingredients of industrial success. In many ways, New Jersey leads the nation in its widely diversified research programs and facilities.

Ten per cent of the nation's research facilities are concentrated in New Jersey. Expenditures exceed $620,000,000 a year. An estimated 21,700 scientists and engineers are active in New Jersey laboratories.

It is estimated that some 500 firms are active in research in "The Scientific State" today. The results of a current survey show clearly that the state is one of the greatest research centers in the U.S., if not the largest.

"Slave Auction"

Members of the Christian High Fellowship of Pleinsboru Presbyterian Church will put their services on sale at a "Slave Auction" to be held immediately after the 11 o'clock service this Sunday. They will hire themselves out to do all kinds of various jobs around the home during the coming week, from baby sitting to polishing silver or waxing floors.

Purpose of the project is to raise funds for a Summer trip to Yellowstone National Park, where Rev. Allen Line, formerly student assistant minister at Plainsboro Presbyterian, is now chaplain. The trip, to be called a "Go and See Tour," would also include stops at mission stations and church colleges en route.

The young people are not limiting their work to members of the congregation. Any others interested in hiring helpers for the coming week may do so by calling Harry Steen, at SW 9-1161 any time after 6 p.m.

Obituaries

John Doyle, 81, of 255 Hamilton Avenue, died November 12 at the home of his son, Duncan A. Doyle, of the above address. Husband of the late Martha Doyle, he was born in Dundee, Scotland, and was a retired cabinet maker. He was a member of St. Paul's Church and the Holy Name Society.

He also leaves another son, James Doyle of London, Ontario; two daughters, Mrs. George Dickenson and Miss May Doyle, both in Scotland; and a brother, Patrick Doyle in England. Requiem high mass was celebrated in St. Paul's Church with interment in the parish cemetery. Arrangements were under the direction of the Mather Funeral Home.

Harry Boehme Fine, 60, former headmaster of the Princeton Preparatory School, died November 10 at his home, St. Mark's School, Southboro, Mass. He had been business manager and master in American history at the school since 1941. A native of Princeton, he graduated from the University in 1920 after serving as a second lieutenant in the Army during World War I.

Following two years with Proctor and Gamble in Cincinnati, he taught at the Princeton Preparatory School, which his father founded, and became headmaster in 1929 upon his father's death. After the school closed in 1938, he taught at the Lawrence School in Hewlett, N.Y., until 1940, and obtained his MA in history from Columbia University in 1941.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary More Fine; two sons, Dr. John B. Fine, a captain in the Air Force in Japan, and Paul E. M. Fine, a Princeton University freshman; a daughter, Mrs. Bradslav Latich of Monrovia, Liberia; a sister, Mrs. Lee D. Butler of Sopply, Va.; and a brother, Prof. John V. A. Fine of Princeton.

Lewis C. Grooms, 48, of Varsity Avenue, Penns Neck, died November 16 in Princeton Hospital of a heart ailment. For the past 19 years, he had been employed by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Mr. Grooms was born in Andarko, Okla., and had lived in this area for 35 years. A graduate of Princeton High School, he was an alumnus of the University of Kansas.

Survivors are his wife, Beulah S. Grooms and a daughter, Mrs. Emery J. Snyder of Bethlehem, Pa. The service will be held Thursday at 2 at the Kimble Funeral Home, with the Rev. David L. Crawford, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, of which Mr. Grooms was a member, officiating. Burial will be at the convenience of the family.

WHAT PRINCETON NEEDS . . .

Like a hole in the head!

With over 20 real estate companies now in town you may ask: Is there room for any more?

Yes—but only if it can offer something different. We plan to specialize in one-of-a-kind properties, i. e., country estates, old Colonials, farms, investment buildings and land, rather than development housing.

And if we don't have the house of your dreams in our listings, we're not adverse to some doorbell ringing in search of it for you.

In short, if we can be of service either in selling your present home or in helping you to locate,

Please call

People With a Sense of Style Are Buying In

Princeton Manor

Children can romp in the spacious surrounding woods. Mother will delight in the convenience to shopping and schools, and Father will appreciate the solid construction of our homes as a wise capital gains hedge against inflation.

The Princeton Manor Construction Co. will build from your ideas, your architect's plans, or from over 200 designs in our files — on your lot or our land. Locally owned and managed, the Princeton Manor Construction Co. is currently building fifteen to twenty custom-built homes a year in Central New Jersey. Consult our list of building sites in the Princeton area. You may use your lot as all or part of the down payment on your new home. A few of our extra services are unusually favorable financing and free consultation with an interior decorator.

Visit our display Home open every day except Wednesday from noon 'til dusk

From the center of Princeton go east on Nassau St. for 1 mile, turn left on Snowden Lane to Franklin Ave., left 1 block and right on Grover Ave. to 136 Randall Rd. and Display Home.

SPECIALLY RECOMMENDED

PRINCETON TOWNSHIP
Here is a rural gem about a mile from the Valley Road School, yet is quiet and private as a recluse would have it. The room arrangement of this cottage is based on the front to back split level principle: There is a living room with a fireplace; a den; separate dining room, three bedrooms and one bath. Transferred owner requests immediate action.
$24,500

PRINCETON BOROUGH
An attractive three bedroom rancher, in better than new condition, if this be possible. The living room is large (15 x 23), has a fireplace and conveniently arranged dining space; the kitchen is up to date and very functional. Structurally this house is excellent; it has good lines, a full dry basement, and is most conveniently situated for schools and shopping. We are interested in your offer. Price now is
$21,000

LAWRENCE TOWNSHIP
A country cottage where the children may have a pony, dogs or any other pets, and where the adults may have privacy and convenient country living. This five room cottage has three bedrooms and one bath: There is a surplus of storage in the large attic and full dry basement; also room for hobbies and outdoor pursuits with large garage and outbuildings.
$18,000

WEST WINDSOR TWP.
Princeton Colonial Park: Titled but never used; that's the story on this new four bedroom colonial which we are offering for immediate sale and occupancy. All the sought after qualities for increased livability are here: the living room has a fireplace; the kitchen is engineered for maximum space utilization; there is a two car garage, and a spacious, two thirds of an acre lot.
$21,750

LAWRENCE TOWNSHIP
NASSAU ESTATES: 17 Jill Lane. This is the different Split-level; it has the standard room arrangement of seven rooms, three bedrooms, one full and two half baths, a large family room etc.; however, it also has the full potential of a quiet residential street, perfect maintenance, and well thought out arrangements for the owners convenience. Down payment and carrying cost are easy to meet: down payment $5400, monthly carrying cost $124.
$20,500

PRINCETON BOROUGH
We can offer variability, selection and semi-custom construction in this new development; there are four styles to choose from with varying room arrangements and three to four bedrooms. Call us for details on possession, price and financing. Prices start at
